TOM WATSON ON

He Credits Cleveland With Being Responsible in Large Measure For Parker's Defeat.

IS VERY SORE AT THE DEMOCRATS

He Has No Faith Whatever That Reforms Will Be Accomplished By Their Party.

New York, Nov. 13.-Thomas L. Watson today gave out the following state-

"It should be borne in mind that at the time the Springfield convention tendered me the presidential nomination the People's party had no real existence as a factor in national politics for eight years. In the presidential election of 1800 it gave to its nominee only 500 votes. To that extent had the fusion of 1886 swallowed up a movement which included nearly 2,000,000 of voters and about 1,500 active newspapers.

Therefore, we had to build from the ground up in 1894. We had almost nothing to start with in the way of party organization, campaign funds and newspaper support; we had only three months in which to work. These things being first considered, some fair idea of what was accomplished can be had my when the official returns are "Up to this time no official statement has been made of the vote, and I can only guess what it was from information conveyed to me by friends in various parts of the country. These sources of course, are not very reliable. Basing an estimate upon them, however, my opinion is that I received something like 500,000 votes scattered through so many states, north and south, east and west, as to indicate that the sentiment which gives its moral support to the People's party is national and not sectional

I have found everywhere that the current was strong and deep in favor of Jeffersonian Democracy. I believe today that if all those who believe in that theory of government could be united in harmonious action we could sweep the country.

"Mr. Roosevelt's overwhelming ma-jority was not so much due to the fact that our people believe in class legislation, and the reign of special privileges, it was not by any means an indorse-ment of corporation tyranny, the greed bined capital. Mr. Roosevelt's ma-jority over Mr. Parker was due mainly popularity of Mr. Cleveland's second administration. Unfortunately for Mr. Parker, he became so completely identi-sed with the marauders who plundered the government during Cleveland's secthe odium which they had incurred. The people have never had a chance to show just what they thought of that eland commission secured the defeat of Bryan and Hearst and dictated the domination of Mr. Parker that the masses got the opportunity to vent upon a national candiate the intense hatred which they had been nursing for years sgainst such men as Olney and Belmont and Carlisle and Cleveland himself. "They knew that I could not be elected and they were so eager to make the lest of the opportunity to safeguard the country against a repetition of that sauralia of class legislation which sauralia of class legislation which saved Cleveland's second administration, that they rushed to Roosevelt and gave him a majority which does not under ordinary circumstances belong to the Republican party.

in other words, the personality of Mr. Roosevelt and the unpopularity of Mr. Parker's environment carried into the Republican columns vast muititudes of men who, under ordinary circumstances, would not be found there.

"My own plans for the future embrace a coundete organization of the brace a complete organization of people along the lines of Jeffersonian Democracy, the re-establishment of referm and a systematic propaganda of Jeffersonian principles, in order that in 1998 there shall be a party of genuine opposition to the Republican party and

"If political history, teaches anything it is that old parties never accomplish any reform unless they are irresistibly driven to it by pressure from without. Those at least to be of some use to my security in alding those who will apply that pressure. It is immaterial to me who does the work which the reformers mant done, so that the work itself is done.

NO FAITH IN DEMOCRACY.

"I have no faith whatever that re-firms will be accomplished by the Democratic party. It is discredited in the eyes of the people by a series of crushing defeats, but it has been so reclating in its course. It has changed crushing defeats, but it has been so naciliating in its course, it has changed its principles so often, has run from one extreme to another so recently, had such a magnificent opportuity in 1893 to work out the reforms to which it stood pledged and made such wretched use of that opportunity, that it cannot inspire the confidence which leads to success.

"Since 1992 the Democratic party has almost entirely boxed the compass in political profession of faith. It has been for pretty much everything until this year, when it stood for everything or bothing according to the integrire.

this year, when it stood for everything or nothing, according to the interpretion which the voter chose to put upon in ambiguous platform.

"Mr. Bryan, while a great Democrat, is not the Democratic party. There are other distinguished Democrats who are yet to be heard from, and they may not inderes his Populist platform.

"There is John Sharp Williams of Massissippi; there is Joseph W. Bafley of Texas; there is Senator Ben R. Till-of Texas; there is Senator Ben R, Till-man of South Carolina; there is Sen-Mor Morgan of Alabama; there is Senater John R. Daniel of Virginia; in fact, there are quite a number of distinguished Democrats who may claim the right to put in a word before the next national Democratic platform is

SEVERE ON BRYAN.

"They may not be willing to take, for instance, Mr. Bryan's forty-seven dif-ferent systems of government rail-roads; they may not be in favor of some other planks in his platform. Be that as it may, Mr. Bryan has no more right at the present to say what the Democratic platform shall be in 1908 than any other distinguished Democrat. "For the next four years the Democratic creed must remain what the St. Louis convention of 1904 made it, and the machinery of the party must remain the hands of the party must remain the hands of the party must remain it has had of the party must remain it has been seen to say the party must remain it has been seen to say the party must remain it has been seen to say the party must remain it has been seen to say the party must remain it has been seen to say the party must remain it has been seen to say what the party must remain it has been seen to say what the party must remain it is been seen to say what the party must remain in the been seen to say what the party what the party must remain the machinery of the party must remain in the hands of the men who now hold it. The air still rings with the eloquence with which Mr. Bryan indorsed the candidate of the St. Louis convention, spoke of him as the Moses of Democracy; spoke of Parker's ideals as his own ideals and proclaimed the 'sincerity' with which he was advocating both the platform and the nomince of 1904.

1904. "Mr. Bryan himself will remain for four years as much bound by the action of the St. Louis convention as he was when he made his whirlwind trip through Indiana. If the action at the convention bound him then it binds him now. The election did not release him. He can only be released by another national convention, and the national convention will not meet till 1908.

ST. LOUIS PLATFORM. "Therefore, when Mr. Bryan cuts loose from the platform which he so behalf of Judge Parker, he takes a po-sition which is that of Bryan the in-dividual, and which can not bind any other Democrat whatsoever. For four years the Democratic party has got to stand by the action of the St. Louis convention whether it wishes to do so or not. What it did there is official and binding. Mr. Bryan himself gave

"Again, Mr. Bryan has no substan-tial reason for believing that he can ever get the national Democratic party to adopt the Populist program which he has just formulated. The Democratic party never did do it, and the presumption is that it never will.

"The plutocratic element has just as much power within the party now as it had when the St. Louis convention met Indeed, it has more. It has all the ma-chinery now which the Bryan men then had; it has the same control over the newspapers which it then had; there-fore, it is as certain as anything can be that it will again be able to defeat Mr. Bryan in the national convention when he comes before it with his Populist platform.

POWER OF PLUTOCRATS. "Suppose, however, that he should be scond administration. Mr. Bryan's victorious over the plutocrats in the two campaigns did not give them the mational convention—can they not supprimity. It was only when the old knife him as successfully as they did in 1896? Is it not absolutely certain that they are just as much joined to their idols now as they were then? Will they not be as desperate and unscrupulous in knifing their own ticket as they were in 1895? Every argument based on human nature says they will "Then, if Mr. Bryan should win the nomination on his Populist platform in 1896, the plutocratic element in his own party will bar his progress andcompass his defeat just as it did before.

"Again, suppose that the plutocratic element should triumph over Mr.Bryan in 1908 as it did in 1904, then Mr. Bryan will have to submit just as he did submit in 1904-after having de-clared publicly and positively that he would never support a gold standard nominee of the Democratic party. "Mr. Bryan could not bolt in The time to have done that was 1904. That opportunity will not return. He himself has set the example of submitting to what was wrong because, although it was wrong, it was regular. "In short, the Democratic party has this hopeless situation: The Bryan-ites cannot drive out the plutocratic element, the plutocratic element cannot drive out Mr. Bryan.

JEFFERSONIAN DEMOCRACY.

"I should be only too glad to cooperate on parallel lines and honorable terms with any Jeffersonian Democrat like Mr. Bryan or Mr. Hearst or George Fred Williams to accomplish a purpose which is common to us all, but I believe that the best way to assure the final success of the reform movement is for us to build up a party of Jeffersonian Democracy on solid foundations where unity of sentiment goes hand in hand with unity of purpose, and where, herefore, some hope of accomplishing that which we wish to accomplish can be reasonably entertained. "In the south there are peculiar reasons why the present policy of the Democratic leaders should be defeated, and a better line of policy adopted. For the last 25 or 39 years the Democratic machine politicisms have made that great section a mero tool in the hands of Wall street and a handful of eastern Democrats who have no purpose in common with us, and who use the electoral vote of the solid south for their own selfish purposes. "In this manner our southern country, which is an empire in itself, has been made a province for a few great financial magnates who exploit it for their private gain without the slightest reference to the welfare of the south-ern people. The situation is pitiable. The degredation of it finds expression in the phrase. The solid south would vote for a yellow dog on the Democratic ticket,'

AS A SOUTHERN MAN.

"As a southern man, I am ashamed of such a state of affairs. They exhaust their strength with internal struggles, leaving the party where its enemies can always defeat it at the polis. There is this further weakness in the program of Mr. Bryan: The plutecratic element has shown that it can safely defy him and combat him, al-though he is the nominee, whereas he submits to them when they put up a plutgeratic nominee "From a party so hopelessly divided it is the rankest folly, in my judgment, to expect any reforms. From year to year it is a dreary go round and round of one faction fighting another faction, each of which alternately whips the other and neither of which ever whips the enemy.

"As a southern man I am ashamed of such a state of affairs, and resent it profoundly. If I can do anything toward accomplishing the political inde-pendence of my can people from this slavish servitude to a handful of Wall street politicians, I consider it a duty

PEOPLE'S PARTY. "If the People's party had no other mission than to relax the grasp which the great railway corporations have upon the commercial throat of the southern states, a grasp which is maintained by the alliance between Democratic bosses and Wall street financial kings then it would have sufficient mission to warront its continued existence.

"My own state of Georgia is as completely under the thumb of Morgan and Belmont, one of whom controls the Southern railway combine, the other of whom centrols the Louisville & Nashville combine, as the state of Pennsylvania is under the centrol of the Pensylvania railroad, or the state of Wiscensin is under the control of those corconsin is under the control of those cor-porations which La Follette has won national fame in combatting.

SITUATION APPALLING

"The situation is simply appalling and would not be believed by anybody who was not convergant with the facts. I expect to return home and open a campaign on the lines of Jeffersontage Democracy to take our state govern-ment out of the control of Morgan and Belmont and to put it in the control of the Georgia people, where it belongs. "In nearly every southern state there

s a similar contest to be waged against orporation tyranny. By the time the next presidential election rolls around there is every reason to believe that here will be sufficient sentiment in favor of the reform principles which are embodied in the national platform of the people's party to win success at the

"It all depends upon work to be done in the years between now and then. I expect to do my share of it. That is all I can say at present. I will, however, repeat that I have not purchased or rented a house in New York or anywhere else, and do not expect to do so. My home is in Thompson, Ga., in a re-gion which my ancestors settled 150 years ago, and it is there that my house vill be to the end.

'Am I discouraged? By no means, I began with nothing, worked three months and got half a million votes. The men who followed me are men of Parker started out with 7,00,000 votes and lost some 2,000,000 in the campaign. Those who followed him are demoralized and disheartened. The Democratic campaign is the place where that is to be found. "THOMAS E. WATSON." (Signed.)

PARENTS' MURDER

Adolph Weber is Charged With Killing His Father and Mother, Brother and Sister.

WAS NOT AT ALL DISTURBED.

Arrest Was Made as He Left the Witness Stand-Technical Over Legal Rights.

Auburn, Cal., Nov. 13 .- Adolph Weber has been placed under arrest, charged with the murder of his parents, sister and young brother last Thursday night and with having set the family residence on fire afterward to conceal the crime. Weber took his arrest coolly, but was alive to what he considered to be his legal rights. The arrest took place immediately after he left the witness stand and after he had rather reluctantly answered the questions propounded to him by Coroner Shepard, the district attorney and several of the jurymen. A warrant for his arrest had been sworn out, and after its service Weber asked to be allowed to read the document.

"I see it has been signed by a justice" of the peace," he coolly remarked, "and a justice of the peace has no authority law to issue a warrant to arrest me. Sheriff Keenan said he was himself perfectly satisfied with the legality of the warrant and advised Weber to accompany him to the jail without making any unnecessary trouble or causing a scene. Weber, after carefully but-Weber, after carefully buttoning his coat, announced that he was ready, and with little loss of time the sheriff brought him to the Jail. The prison doors had scarcely clanged behind him before he asked to be allowed o consult with an attorney. The latest theory of the Weber murder case is that the murderer shot the father first, then as the sister appeared in the hall he shot her and then the mother, seeing what had been done, screamed and started from him, when he shot her. She con-tinued on across the room, and raising her left hand, took down the telephone receiver to call for help a which time she received the second which time she received the second shot which penetrated the body just under the left arm. The child being the only one left the murderer struck him over the head and felled him. The operator at the central telephone office ways that the line that the office says that the line that the Weber residence is on showed "busy" at about a half hour before the fire

Adolph Weber was seen in jail this morning. He had nothing to say beyond that he had a good night's rest. He ate a good breakfast and called for some milk, which the jailer did not have. No effort has been made as yet to get the young man out on a writ by his attorneys. writ by his attorneys.

Weber's description is said to tally with the robber who recently robbed the bank here. It will be recalled that after the daring robbery in the middle of the day, the robber droy middle of the day, the robber drove rapidly down the road leading toward Newcastle for about a half mile and then left the rig and took to the hills. At this time Mr. T. S. Palmer went to his home and being an expert rifle shot, took his rifle with him and went after the robber. Upon reaching the spot where the buggy was abandoned, he noticed a man climbing the hill on the opposite side of the road from that which the robber was supposed to have the opposite side of the road from that which the robber was supposed to have taken. Upon overtaking the man he found him to be Adolph Weber. Julius Weber missed one of his home make money bags about this time, which tallied very closely with the one used by the man who held up the bank.

Young Weber asked for the daily papers this afternoon and wanted to see them all. He read the various accounts very critically, criticising every discrepancy and threatening libel suits.

But even with it all he talked more about the reported death of Kuroki, the Japanese general, than anything else. He was very much interested and talked quite freely on the war, but he had nothing to say about his own case. He looked much better than he did when on the stand last night, was not nervous and said he had had a very good sleep. Weber says he has no fear of conviction and believes he will burned loose at the preliminary trial No new evidence has developed today except the finding of the pistol ball that penetrated Mr. Weber's body. The doctors at the autopsy found the wound and last night Undertaker Waish found the bullet. It was of the same callber as that of the two found in the bodies of Mrs. Weber and Miss Weber. Nothing has a very been found in the bodies. ng has as yet been found in the bodies that would materially aid in unravel-ing the mystery. The search will be continued temorrow. The inquest will not be resumed until Tuesday.
